Continuity in an uncertain world

The world has rarely felt less certain, nor has commercial activity seemed so full of risk.

Amlin enables companies to concentrate on their business goals by managing the varied risks of an uncertain world.

We do this through our exceptional underwriting and risk management expertise, backed by financial strength and leadership in our markets.

This is why Amlin will continue to be there when you need us.

Strength of a global leader

Amlin is a leading insurance and reinsurance group underwriting business through Syndicate 2001 at Lloyd's, Amlin AG and Amlin Corporate Insurance.

We employ more than 1,300 people in twenty locations worldwide.

The Amlin Group is organised as six divisions: Amlin London (which includes Amlin Singapore and Amlin Labuan), Amlin UK, Amlin France, Amlin Bermuda, Amlin Corporate Insurance and Amlin Re Europe. We write a diverse portfolio of more than 30 classes of business.

The following illustrates the Group structure and all figures are for the full year as at 31 December 2010.

Focus on quality

Amlin and its predecessor syndicates have been writing insurance and reinsurance for over fifty years and in 2010, led approximately 46% of the business written.

Ours is a technically driven approach, using in-house exposure rating tools, catastrophe modelling software where applicable and experience rating, in order to provide our clients with a secure and consistent approach.

Our highly experienced teams apply Amlin's successful underwriting strategies while developing a well spread, geographically diverse global book.

Establishing a portfolio of strong core businesses has enabled us to broaden our offering to brokers. However, we are always interested in opportunities to develop our business beyond the classes identified below.
